Mission Statement

Engaging local leadership to create community-based economic prosperity.

Powered By Community Mission

In response to today's unprecedented need for corporate accountability and responsibility, IMCB's ethical, community centered and relationship-driven banking organization stands ready to partner with communities to rebuild trust and prosperity. Success depends upon input, guidance and determination from leaders throughout our region.

Our goal is to serve our customers and neighbors, and to create a sustainable program as a blueprint for other corporations and communities.

Who We Are

Intermountain Community Bancorp was founded in 1981 as Panhandle State Bank by local leaders who wanted a bank that kept decision making and funding in local hands. IMCB still maintains its headquarters in Sandpoint, Idaho, operating as four separate divisions with twenty banking locations in Idaho, Washington and Oregon under the names Panhandle State Bank (PSB), Intermountain Community Bank, (ICB) and Magic Valley Bank (MVB). The Bank remains committed to its founding principals, and continues to work within each of its communities to build strong relationships, prudent resources management, and long-term success.

What We Do

IMCB, through each of its subsidiaries, provides a full range of banking and financial services, including lending, core deposit protection and investment, and trust and wealth management. Our bank does not claim to be the biggest with the most comprehensive array of financial products. We believe in providing value to every customer in a banking relationship that is valued for life.

We are totally invested in an extraordinary banking culture that values service and trust before short-term profit. That culture has created a top-ranked customer service experience based not only on what happens within bank doors but also by how the bank is invested in our communities.

Each of our branches has its own community-based projects that promote employee volunteerism and fund raising for local priorities. Our Community Match program, which commits bank dollars for every dollar raised by our branches, has put $100,000 into our local economies for worthy causes. We also recognized citizens who have put service above self through their own efforts, through our Community Star program.

Because IMCB has a deeply held commitment to the health and well-being of our local economies, it is a natural step to respond to the current economic crisis by deciding how we can reach out and help.

What's Going On

Powered by Community is our plan to initiate funding, leadership and coordination for economic development programs within our banking communities. This is an ambitious undertaking and we cannot do it without the commitment and resources of community leaders, other corporations, and municipal support.

Quite simply, IMCB is committed to the engagement of 1000 new volunteers, to build 100 new community-based economic develop programs, supported by 100% of IMCB's employees.

These activities will aid efforts in job development, training and education, affordable housing, and social program support.

Our bank can only be as strong as our communities and the people who live here. We will work to build a stronger, better Inland Northwest by pledging our support to initiatives powered by, and for, community.
